ASSASSINS OF GHANDI GIVEN FULL PENALTY

Defendants Enter Courtroom Laughing and Joking, Shout "Long Live Hindustan"

EIGHT - MONTH TRIAL

New Delhi, Feb. 10—(AP)—Narayan Godse and Narayan Apte, editor and publisher of a small Poona newspaper, today were sentenced to die on the gallows for the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

Five of the eight defendants were given life sentences. The aged politician, V. D. Savarkar, who had been described by the prosecution as the brains of the plot against Gandhi's life, was acquitted.

B. B. Bage, a ninth man arrested in the plot, turned state's evidence and was released at the end of the proceedings.

The sentences for the slaying of the 78-year-old Hindu spiritual and political leader on Jan. 30, 1948, were pronounced in the heavily guarded courtroom of Delhi's old Red Fort by Special Judge Atma Charan at the conclusion of an eight-month trial.

The defendants came into the crowded courtroom laughing and joking. When led from the room after the sentences were pronounced, they began shouting, with Godse's voice sounding above the others, "We will conquer Pakistan. Long live Hindustan." Then they broke into loud laughter.

Sentenced to life imprisonment were: Vishnu Karkare, hotel keeper at Ahmednagar.

Dan Lal, Punjab refugee who admitted setting off a bomb at Gandhi's prayer meeting 10 days before the assassination.

Dattatraya Parchure, Gopal Godse, brother of the chief defendant.

Kistayya Shankar, a servant. The judge recommended, however, that Shankar's sentence be commuted seven years hard labor.

Godse, who was seized on the prayer grounds of Birla mansion the morning of the assassination with a smoking pistol in his hands, was found guilty of five subsidiary charges besides the actual killing of Gandhi.

Standing erect in a green sweater and brown scarf, Godse smiled as the judge listed the charges on which he was convicted, including illegal possession of firearms and explosives.

All the defendants except Shankar and Lal were members of the militant Hindu Mahasabha party and of the martial Mahratta race which has been a traditional foe of Moslems for the last 400 years. During his trial Godse confessed he killed Gandhi "purely for the benefit of humanity" and asked for death.

"I do not desire any mercy be shown me," he said in a long statement.

He said he "respected Gandhi's saintliness" but disagreed with his policies of love and tolerance for "boogymen." These policies, he said, "brought ruin to millions of Hindus."

VISCOSE CORP. PLANS EXPANSION PROGRAM

New York, Feb. 10—(AP)—An expansion program by the Pennsylvania division of American Viscose Corp. will increase its cellophane capacity to 100,000,000 pounds a year, Frank H. Reichel, president of American Viscose said.

The program will double production at the Pennsylvania plant in Fredricksburg, Va., and will make this plant the largest single cellophane unit in the world.

The program will be completed in about two years.

Reichel estimated that E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. controls about 75 per cent of the nation's annual cellophane production of 320,000,000 pounds. American Viscose makes the other 25 per cent.

When the expansion program is completed, he said, American Viscose will be producing about 40 per cent of the total.

Organized Baseball Faces Stiff Test In Challenge Suit

New York, Feb. 10—(AP)—Organized baseball shook off its historical shyness toward legal action today and prepared to fight the latest attack against its contracts all the way to the Supreme Court.

The legal structure is challenged in a $300,000 damage suit by Danny Gardella, a pint-sized outfielder now banned from baseball because he jumped from the New York Giants to the Mexican League in 1946.

A U. S. Court of Appeals ruled yesterday that the suit may be heard. Commissioner A. B. Chandler, one of the five defendants, said baseball attorneys are ready to go to the Supreme Court if necessary.

The next move is up to the defendants, who besides Chandler are the Giants, President Ford Frick of the National League, President Will Harridge of the American League, and President George Trautman of the National Association (minors).

They have 20 days to answer yesterday's ruling. The case had been dismissed last July 14 by Federal District Judge Henry W. Goddard. The court split 2-1 in reversing Judge Goddard.

Gardella, known more for his off-the-field antics such as hanging from a 12th-floor window by his fingertips than for his baseball prowess, is under a five year suspension from organized ball.

In his suit he charged baseball being a monopoly because of the reserve clause in every contract which binds a player to one club for life unless he is sold, traded or released. He also charged that Federal anti-trust laws apply to baseball because large fees received by clubs for radio and television rights make baseball subject to interstate commerce regulations.

The appeal judges wrote three separate opinions. Only the one by Judge Jerome N. Frank touched directly upon the reserve clause.

He said it "results in something resembling peonage of the baseball player. The violator may perhaps become a judge with a less exciting and often less remunerative occupation, or a bartender or a street sweeper, but his chances of ever playing baseball are exceedingly slim."

The reserve clause is regarded as the foundation of baseball contracts. Without it players would be free to bargain with any club of their choice at the end of each season. Wealthy teams could outbid the poorer ones for the best available talent.

Voters Of Ulster Jam Polls For Crucial Vote On Whether To Stay Under British Crown

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Feb. 10—(AP)—Voters of Ulster swarmed out today to decide a bitterly fought general election. The issue was: To stay under the British crown or join Southern Ireland in a Republic.

Both sides conceded in advance that backers of continued union with Britain would capture a majority of the 52-member Northern Ireland parliament.

The opposition, however, which favors merging with Eire in a new "Republic of Ireland" hoped, to roll up an impressive vote for its cause. Today's voting was on seats from 28 contested districts. Four other contested seats are held by Queens University in Belfast. But the voting there is by mail and results will not be known for several weeks.

A heavy turnout—running as high as 90 per cent in contested districts—was predicted. Polling hours are from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. (4 a. m. to 3 p. m. EST), but the votes won't be counted until tomorrow. More than 500,000 ballots may be cast.

All police were on call in event of trouble. Flamboyant parades last night ended a slam-bang campaign in which stones and bottles were thrown at political rallies and store windows were smashed.

Twenty-eight years ago the six counties of northern Ireland (Ulster), mainly Protestant, refused to join the 26 predominantly Catholic counties of Eire, or southern Ireland and stayed with Britain. There have been two Irelands since.

The issues of race and religion cropped up in the campaign just ended. Many in northern Ireland are descendants of Scots and Britons who came here 300 years ago.

Sir Basil Brooke, prime minister of northern Ireland, whose Unionist party wants to string along with Britain, charged Eire political leaders with "unjustifiable interference" in the Ulster campaign.

Sir Basil's party held a better than two-thirds majority in the old House of Commons. Sir Basil dissolved Parliament last month to prepare for a show of public feeling on the question. The prime minister predicted the election would increase the unionist margin.

The voters will pick 52 members of a new Commons. There are only 32 contests because 16 Unionists and supporters, and four anti-partitionists, who want to join the southern counties in a Republic, are not opposed.

Private capital will finance the project, Stewart said, and there will be no public offering of stock. Right-of-way for the elevated, enclosed belt system will be sought through the Ohio state government, Stewart said.

Another scheme for linking the lakes and the Ohio, this one by a canal to the east of the proposed belt system, has also been discussed from time to time. Stewart says the belt system can convey ore and coal more cheaply than the suggested canal, although both would be cheaper than by rail.

Stewart estimates that if 15,000,000 tons of coal are carried by the belt annually the new system can cut $1.06 a ton from the rail cost of carrying coal from the Ohio river to Cleveland or Lorain. The saving would be $1.50 a ton on a 20,000,000 ton annual total.

H. B. Stewart Jr., president of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown Railroad, announced formation of the new corporation, Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc. The conveyor system, all elevated at least 22 feet, would cost $154,000,000 and would take 32,000,000 man hours, and at least three years to build. Terminal facilities at Lorain, Ohio, on Lake Erie, and at East Liverpool, Ohio, on the Ohio river, are estimated at a cost of $56,000,000 more.

ARMY WARNS RED SPY RING MAY BE ACTIVE

Fabulous Russian Spy System Operated in Japan During War With Great Success

ESPIONAGE NETWORK

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP) The Army warned today that remnants of a fabulous Russian spy ring that operated in Japan with perhaps the greatest daring and success in history may be at work in world capitals "at this very moment."

There is that fleeting hint at a present-day menace in the story of an espionage network so bold it slipped from the Japanese cabinet and German embassy in Tokyo several times before changing the course of the war.

And there is another hint in a suggestion that the operator who tapped out coded messages on a secret radio might now be busy in some other country.

The Army snipped out parts of a 32,000-word report on the ring that Gen. Douglas MacArthur sent over from Tokyo. It gave "security reasons" for its disclosure.

Some members of the House Un-American Activities committee are interested.

The now-it-can-be-told parts of the report unfold an amazing tale centering around:

Richard Sorge, a German Communist and master spy.

Ozaki Hozumi, his second in command and a Japanese traitor.

Agnes Smedley, an American author, accused of still being a Soviet spy. She denies it.

Sorge was on intimate terms with German Ambassador Ott. Ozaki with Japanese Premier Kameo. And from these "perfect," unsuspecting sources they extracted information of "incalculable" value.

A month ahead of time, the ring sounded an alarm that Germany would attack Russia.

It supplied the vital assurance that Japan would not pounce on Russia. So the Soviets felt safe in pulling troops from Siberia and rushing them across a continent to beat back the Nazi onslaught on Moscow.

That assurance was the prime target of the spy ring. And it got it just three days before the Japanese smashed the network in 1941, just before Pearl Harbor.

President Terms Cardinal's Trial A Kangaroo Court

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—President Truman today denounced Hungary's treatment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty as "infamous."

He described the treason trial of the Cardinal as a kangaroo court proceeding which will go down in history as a blot against the nation which carried it on.

Mr. Truman went on to say that the matter of whether it was in violation of Hungary's treaties is being investigated and a report is to be made to him on that point.

The President discussed the trial at his news conference and gave reporters permission to quote directly his use of the word "infamous."

A reporter asked whether a break in relations with Hungary is under study. The President made it clear he didn't say that.

What is under investigation he said is whether Hungary's action was contrary to its obligations in treaties with other governments.

American officials see the whole affair as one which will bring a new clash between Russia and the western powers.

'Ultimatum' Charge Made By Russians

London, Feb. 10—(AP)—Russia accused the western powers today of issuing an "ultimatum" in rejecting Yugoslav claims to a slice of southern Austria.

American and British sources said Soviet Ambassador George N. Zarubin made the charge at the reconvened Big Four conference in Austria today.

An informant reported American and British deputies Samuel Reber and James Marjoribanks said they would be glad to hear Yugoslavia's claims on other matters, provided the territorial demand is dropped.

The Yugoslav claim for 800 square miles of southern Austrian territory is backed by the Russians, despite a family squabble with Yugoslavia's Premier Marshal Tito. It was raised again at the conference of Big Four foreign ministers' deputies which opened yesterday.

Reber, supported by French and British deputies, denied the western stand was an ultimatum, an American informant said. He added, however, that Reber made it clear he will continue to oppose any change in Austria's pre-1938 frontiers.

The Yugoslavs claim the disputed territory is populated mainly by Slovenes. They also are demanding $150,000,000 in war reparations from Austria.

Hoover Study Group Asks For Many Government Reforms

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—The Hoover Commission today asked congress and President Truman to (1) outlaw political favoritism, (2) renege the Civil Service from "red tape without end", and (3) reward officials who cut the federal payroll.

In a new report on government reorganization, the bi-partisan commission called for these reforms by the nation's biggest employer. It said they would bring "great savings."

Shape a career service that will attract and hold "men and women of the highest intelligence" by opening new training and promotion opportunities.

Raise pay in the $5,000-and-up brackets and lift the $10,330 salary ceiling to a point closer to private-industry levels.

Require the removal of officials, who show "political favoritism in making appointments."

Strip the Civil Service Commission of its worker-recruiting and some other functions. Hand the hiring job over to the individual agencies under modernized procedures.

Fix a single pay policy for all agencies, instead of the four now existing. Let Congress set the wage ceiling and floor and let the Civil Service Commission set individual scales.

"We cannot entrust the government of today to second-rate men and women," said the commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover.

A sworn foe of "headlessness" in the federal agencies, the commission proposed that all administrative duties of the Civil Service Commission be handed over to its chairman. The commission then would be a policy body only; the chairman would take the added title of "director of personnel," on the President's staff.

Even this overhaul failed to satisfy one of the Hoover Commission's 12 members. A strong dissent was filed by James K. Pollock, chairman of the Political Science Department at University of Michigan.

Pollock urged the outright abolition of the Civil Service Commission and creation of a central personnel agency under one director. The majority report, he said, minimizes the shortcomings of the present Civil Service system.

The study was the second of 15 chapters in the Hoover Commission's future report, authorized by law as the prospective basis for reorganizing the entire executive branch.

The president declined to comment directly on the earlier price slump which Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has blamed partly on "speculative influences."

Brannan ordered the inquiry into market prices. He asked the Agriculture Department to get "full information" on all commodity transactions for the first three days of this week.

However, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told the Senate-House Economic

Open Winter Bad Omen For Maple Sugar and Syrup

Harrisburg, Feb. 10—(P)—Making maple syrup and sugar soon will start in Pennsylvania.

Old timers in the business are skeptical about a good flow of sap because of the "open" winter.

Shortage of labor to tap trees and boil sap has caused a decline in the production of maple products the State Department of Agriculture reports. The lowest point of record was 1945 when only 285,000 trees were tapped, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

Pennsylvania ranks fifth among the 10 states where maple sugar and syrup are produced in quantities sufficiently large to estimate. Last year 340,000 trees were tapped and from them 15,000 pounds of sugar and 61,000 gallons of sirup were made.

As late as 1923 more than a million trees were tapped in Pennsylvania, and each year many thousands stand idle because help is not available to do the work.

Somerset County leads all others in the State in maple products. Within the past two years a producers' cooperative plant has been established at Somerset, designed to provide a domestic outlet for the maple products of the State, marketed under a distinctly Pennsylvania brand name.

Gra-Y Clubs Plan Father- Son Occasion

Rev. William T. Lane, who is chairman of Father and Son Week, announces that many people of Warren and nearby places have plans under way for celebration of this special week. Father is being entertained at many banquets by boys' groups and club and church services will mark the occasion.

The father and son celebration of the Gra-Y Clubs has been scheduled for February 25 at the YMCA starting at 6:30 with a boys and dads swim in the pool and the boys' department reserved for the evening for those who like to play games.

At 7:30 o'clock, the group will meet in the dining hall for a toast to lads and dads. The main speaker of the evening will be A. K. Bowles, assistant special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation branch of Pittsburgh. There will be singing of old favorites by all those attending.

Basketball awards will be given out to the boys who took part in the Gra-Y basketball league play held at the YM on Saturday mornings.

Individual trophies will be awarded to the captains of the following teams, to be put into the trophy cases in the various schools. Billy Massa, South street; Peter Krespan, East street; Willard Foley, Johnson; Jim Graziano, McClintock; James Rose, Lacy; and John Berdine, Home street.

Awards will be given to the members of the teams, with special honors to the high score men and the best all-around athletes.

There will be a movie, "Working for Fun", a sporting film showing in technicolor the workings of the MacGregor Goldsmith Company and its equipment in action with the big league baseball teams, college basketball, Olympics and many more shots of sporting action. The evening will end with refreshments.

TIME IS eastern standard. For central standard subtract one hour, for mountain standard subtract two hours. Some local stations change hour of relay to fit local schedules. Last minute program changes cannot be included.

Repairing The White House Is Poor Business — But It's The Sentimental Thing To Do

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Is the spirit of Dolly Madison worth $3 million to the country? That's about what sentiment will cost the taxpayer in the matter of fixing up the White House. A businessman choosing between repairing a dilapidated old plant at the cost of $5 million and building a new efficient one from scratch at $2 million would not let sentiment delay him long in deciding to save the $3 million. The businessman might say the White House is more than a home. It is the mass-production chief factory for the executive branch, where social, diplomatic, patronage and a host of other executive products roll off the line. It has depreciated badly. It could be written off the books for tax purposes. The new building—at present day construction costs—could be figured into a special depreciation reserve, to make the executive profit and loss statement look better. But as a citizen, many a businessman will go right along with other Americans who think it's worth the money just to keep the semblance at least of the mansion Dolly knew. At first the cost of repairing the president's official home was estimated at $1 million. Then the architects dug into the place and shook their heads. Now they estimate the cost will run to five times as much. Shoring up the tottering old building and replacing it piece by piece will be twice as expensive as tearing it down and rebuilding a modern, safe successor. About the only thing they found that's really sound is the Truman porch. The spirit of Dolly Madison still clings tightly to America's best known home, even with all the gerry-mandering wings added as government grew complex. When the repairmen have departed, when the White House has its proposed hot and cold air conditioning and the president has a stall shower to use, Americans probably will want the place to look, at least, as if Dolly might come strolling out the front door. This whole job could all be done much more easily, more quickly, and cheaply by tearing down the present structure and building something new, as shiny and prosperous and advanced as the country. But some citizens prefer to have a $5 million stake in the country's past. The nation is short on antiquity, as it is. The slow-growing yew tree is found so often in England because it was once the prized wood used in making bows.

FORESTER YOUR U.S. L. E. STOTZ

Our National Forest system has just passed the half century mark, and in this special column a brief review of how the national forests were created, what has been accomplished on them in their first 50 years of existence and what the Forest Service hopes to accomplish in the field of conservation in future years will be touched upon. The development of the National Forest system was the first clear-cut step to reverse the trend of exploiting our natural resources. Large areas of public-domain timber in the West were being grabbed by speculators through loose-handling of the homestead laws, or through outright fraud. Rich grazing lands, located at the headwaters of vital streams, were being overgrazed. Uncontrolled fires devastated vast areas. Clearly something had to be done to reverse this trend. So in 1891, by Act of Congress, the President was given power to establish forest reserves within the public domain. This looking up of resources at least put a stop to some of the depredations on the public domain, but such a policy was not popular among the people of the West for these resources were badly needed in the development of the country. In 1897 Congress passed an Act outlining a broad policy for management of the reserves which made it possible to open them up for managed use. In 1905 the forest reserves were transferred from the Department of the Interior to the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of Forestry became the Forest Service. Because the term "forest reserve" implied a locking up of the resources the name was changed to National Forests in 1907. A well known Pennsylvanian, Gifford Pinchot, became the first Chief of the Forest Service. Under his vigorous leadership an effective administration for the national forests went ahead rapidly. Regulations for the sale of timber under supervised cutting were put into effect. Livestock grazing was placed under permit. Fire protection was tightened. Since very little public domain remained east of the Great Plains, nearly all of the early forest reservations had been made in the Western states. There were thousands of acres of vital watersheds in the East which were deteriorating, without adequate fire protection, and becoming tax delinquent. Much of this land was suitable only for growing timber, and many of the early farms were abandoned as the thin soil no longer yielded adequate crops. Such areas were best suited to public ownership, but there were no laws to provide for the setting up of National Forests in the East. Finally, in 1911 Congress enacted the Weeks law, authorizing Federal purchase of forestlands for watershed-protection purposes. The Clark-McNary law of 1924 broadened the authorization for this purchase program to include lands chiefly valuable for timber production. Under these laws more than 18,000,000 acres of forest land have been acquired for national forests to date, and it was under these laws that the Allegheny Forest was acquired.

Optimists Mrs. Enjoy Skating Party - Lunch

Members of the Optimists Club and their wives had an unusual evening of fun last night when they gathered at the Island Park roller rink in Youngsville for their monthly joint meeting.

The committee, headed by Mrs. Sandy Fadale, had carried out the Valentine theme throughout the hall, decorations including tables at which all were served hot chili, pie and coffee after the skating.

Reports from the party indicate there were no serious spills or pile-ups despite the inexperience of some of the skaters and many expressed a renewed urge for skating as the result of this most successful affair.

Assisting Mrs. Fadale with the arrangements were Mrs. Lyle Morley, Mrs. Ken Whisner and Mrs. Harry Cooper.

All Optimists were reminded of their monthly meeting to be held Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the YWCA, with Mrs. J. A. Bevelino as hostess, and Miss Georgia Spunney, children's librarian of the Prendergast Library at Jamestown, discussing books for children.

Chapter 34

THE telephone chose that moment to ring. George stepped across the room and started to pick up the receiver. Millicent, who was standing nearby, laid a hand on his arm.

"Don't answer," she said hastily. "Just make a note of this. It's just one of those silly old patients and they can wait. If they're really sick, they can get another doctor," she added as if that solved everything.

George shrugged her hand away and picked up the receiver. He spoke into the mouthpiece. He listened a moment then he said:

"Oh, yes—you're calling for the Harpers? I'll drive a taxi. I'll be there in half an hour. I thought everything was coming along fine. I'll be right out."

He replaced the receiver and addressed Millicent. "Sorry, Millicent," he said, "but it looks like our date's off. I've got a call to make."

"Oh," Millicent's lips hardened into a tight line. "Can't it wait? We should be back in a couple of hours."

"No. It can't wait. It's the Harpers' family, and things happen in a hurry out there. Matter of fact, I spend about half of my time there."

Millicent said again, "If they're such important people, I suppose you'll have to go. But I'd planned—"

"Well, I'm sorry, but it can't be helped. And—no, the Harpers aren't important. They're just about the poorest people around here. If you must know, this isn't a paying case. It's just one of those moral obligations a doctor must fulfill. Sorry, Millicent."

Again he felt his face burn with a resentment. "Here we are, back in the old routine," he thought. "Me allocating all over the box and Millicent all set to climb back into the driver's seat."

"Well!" Millicent's face was livid with anger. "If they don't

Landon Urges Quota
On Imports of Crude

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Alf M. Landon has called for imposition of "closely regulated quotas" on foreign crude oil imports to allay the threat of a recession which he said is confronting the American oil industry.

The 1938 Republican presidential nominee, who is one of Kansas' leading independent oil operators, made public the text of a letter to President Truman suggesting quotas be imposed.

Landon wrote the president that crude oil imports climbed from 250,000 barrels a day to nearly 500,000 barrels daily in 1948 "in striking contrast to the increase in demand for petroleum products which was only a few percent over 1947."

Under the impact of this volume of foreign oil, prices of some refined products have sagged and the price of domestic crude oil is now softening," Landon wrote, adding:

"Lowered crude oil prices would touch off a recession in the American oil industry, for the present price barely represents the replacement cost of oil produced under the present costs of labor, steel and other essential materials."

Landon said he would never advocate that imports should be curtailed or eliminated simply to permit the producing of domestic oil at the fastest possible rate.

"There is a middle course," he declared, "between excessive and inefficient drafts of our own oil reserves on one hand and excessive imports on the other."

Youngsville Program For PTA Founding

Youngsville, Feb. 10—The February meeting of the PTA was dedicated to Founders' Day, commemorating the forming of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers 52 years ago and the local unit 27 years ago and the local unit.

Mrs. Wendell Engstrom was in charge of the business session, during which time announcement was made of the coming of Dr. Samuel Robbins, of Warren, a speaker especially for his books and work on family life. An invitation was extended to all fathers to be present for the March meeting when, it is expected, Dr. Robbins will be the speaker.

Mrs. Pauline Halfast was in charge of the program, which opened with the singing of a large birthday cake, decorated with candles, and the singing of "Happy Birthday" by Miss Norma Haight, with Mrs. Wyllis Johnson at the piano. Miss Haight sang two additional numbers later in the evening.

The following past presidents of the unit were invited to the stage and seated there: Mrs. Charles Henry, Mrs. Charles Rapp, Mrs. R. H. Knapp, Mrs. H. H. Husted, Mrs. Elton Barton and Mrs. Wyllis Johnson.

Mrs. Engstrom, currently head of the group, introduced each of the above women and presented her with a lovely past president's pin. Mrs. Henry, who served as the first president, spoke interestingly of early days of the organization and Mrs. Engstrom read the minutes of the first meeting.

The second feature was a skit of early school days, with Miss Nan Warner as reader. School scenes were then dramatized, along with portrayal of mothers of the school children and their work in organizing the early PTA groups.

Following the dramatics, the guests were invited to the school cafeteria, where second grade mothers served cake, ice cream and coffee.

February 13 will be Race Relations Sunday at the Methodist church, the pastor to speak on "Races of Mankind." All Methodist men are invited to a union Brotherhood meeting at the E. U. B. church Monday evening, when a fine program is planned.

A guest at the home of Mrs. Wave Carlson is her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frederick Carlson, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Georgia Kinnear has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Pentecost, of Cleveland, who have a summer home in Youngsville, and are starting soon for Florida, where they will spend the rest of the winter.

District Sports Card Slates Basketball Tonite And Friday, Wrestling At Beatty Monday

Basketball and wrestling again occupy the center of the stage for Warren district sports fans.

Tonight the YMCA City Basketball League will be in action with two fine scraps on the books. New Process tangles with Struthers Wells at 7:30 o'clock, and an hour later the Rockets and Warren Business College will square off.

On Friday evening, the headline attraction will be the crucial Section Two clash between Warren Dragons and the red-hot Titans. I'll be at Beatty court. The underdog battle has ardent Dragon followers engaging in that old sports custom of "if-ing". If Warren beats Franklin tomorrow night and Oil City next week, and if Franklin loses against Warren and is knocked off by Oil City, then the Section Two race will end in a three-way tie with the Dragons right in the thick of things.

Here's the way the Section Two race stands at present:

W.	L.	Pct.
Franklin	6	0 1.000
Oil City	4	1 .800
Warren	3	2 .600
Titusville	1	5 .167
Meadville	0	6 .000

Other basketball action Friday night sends Oil City to Titusville for a Section Two tilt; Tidioute will battle Youngsville on the Eagles' floor; Sheffield battles Kane on the Hilltoppers court; Wilcox goes to St. Mary's; Tionesta battles Marienville; Sugar Grove goes to Hickory; Bradford plays Erie Tech at Erie; and Pleasantville entertains Randolph.

The wrestling phase of the sports program comes on Monday night when the Warren grapplers, coached by Bob Jewell, will face the Titusville matmen at Beatty court. The card will include 11 bouts, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

BOWLING

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS: Canisus improved its lead in the K. of C.'s National loop by downing Marquette, 3-1 on Arcade slides last night, while the second high St. Bonaventure team was dropping three points to Boston College. Other scraps ended in a 3-1 win for Notre Dame over Holy Cross and a clean sweep for St. Marys over Villanova.

Paul Coppola put together games 128, 231 and 207 for a 577 total for Boston College. Fred Aumer was credited with 219, 190, 184-573 for Holy Cross; J. Musanti hit 199-158-202-569 for St. Marys; M. Pappalardo posted 169-214-176-559 series for Notre Dame. Team standing:

W	L	Pct.
Canisus	18	8 .687
St. Bonaventure	14	10 .583
Marquette	13	11 .542
St. Marys	12	11 .542

★ THE SCOREBOARD ★ Southworth Thinks Antonelli, $60,000 Beauty, Will Stick

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Having been paid more than $6000 by a major league club for signing—10 times more, in fact—Johnny Antonelli can't be sent out by the Braves without being eligible for the draft. But Billy Southworth says he wouldn't farm the 19-year-old Amherst if he could.

Billy, the Kid, better than a green hand, believes the Rochester phenom can make the big jump directly from high school, lists the left-hander as a starting pitcher.

Antonelli, say, his first big league game when he joined the Boston Nationals last midnight. He pitched only four innings in as many games for the champions, but convinced Manager Southworth shutting out the Brewers with three hits in an exhibition under the Milwaukee lights.

"Antonelli has a fast ball, a curve and a change-up," says Southworth. "He might overpower hitters. One thing is sure. He'll be new to them, which is a tremendous advantage. Another thing is certain. I'm going along with him."

"I couldn't risk using the kid last season. We were fighting for the pennant right down to the final week. There just wasn't a spot for him. All he has to do is continue authoring three-hitters like he did against the Brewers, and there'll be plenty of spots for him."

THIS is to be another year, and Southworth, who never misses a trick, has already started building young Antonelli's confidence. Southworth hopes to get a lot of mileage out of Pete Reiser, obtained from the Dodgers for Mike McCormick. Pistol Pete will be put in center field, where he has the most room to roam, and told to stay away from the fences.

A rather interesting new face with the Braves at the Bradenton camp this spring will be outfielder Don Thompson, drafted from the Cardinals' Columbus American Association branch. Thompson probably will have the distinction of being the only major league outfielder ever to pitch a no-hit game in as high as Triple A ball. He did it for Louisville against Minneapolis, July 26, 1945. Then he suddenly lost his stuff, and returned to the outfield.

Al Banister of the Columbus club says the St. Louis Nationals went into the Thompson thing with their eyes wide open.

"We felt certain he would be drafted," explains the Columbus president. "If the Braves hadn't drafted him, some other club would have. The Cardinals, you see, had no place on their club for another left-hand hitting outfielder."

Billy Southworth, baseball's Ol' Clo'sman, may have picked up another winner.
